bronzes, and he was a bit doubtful. They have quite a considerable amount of metal-work here - they make railway carriages etc. - and have the equipment, but not the specialists in bronze. I said that I thought you might be able to control the process, but wasn't sure.

My feeling is that you should continue to develop the idea, work on some plans and send us some sketches. If the interest is strong enough, we can try to find ways to get you a ticket. We could probably arrange an exhibition for you here as well - the leading artists here do very well

Let me know what you feel.

Warm greetings,

Albie.
